Research Study

Words for Thoughts and Feelings

VANDERBILT  UNIVERSITY

The Child Language and Literacy Lab at Vanderbilt University is investigating how children use words and word combinations to express thoughts and feelings.

Who can participate?

Children ages 3-6 are eligible. If you are interested, we will screen for additional eligibility criteria.

What will your child do?

Your child will look at pictures and repeat sentences that have to do with the pictures.

Financial compensation will be provided.

When and where will this study take place?

Your child will complete two 60-minute sessions at his or her school or day care location. We will schedule these sessions with your child's teacher or care provider.

How can I learn more?

If you would like to participate or have questions, please call Ian Morton or Melanie Schuele at 615-936-5136 or email language@vanderbilt.edu.
