

Do you have concerns about your toddler's speech or language?

Participate in our virtual language development study!

Eligibility

Age

Child is younger than 31 months old

Concern

Caregiver is concerned about child's language development

Diagnoses

Child has no other diagnosis that influences their development

Language

Primary caregiver uses only English with the child

About the Nationwide Study

Researchers from Northwestern, Vanderbilt, and the University of Illinois are partnering to understand more about language growth in children experiencing a communication delay.

You and your child will complete virtual language assessments every 3 months until your child's 4th birthday. Your participation helps us find the best research-supported strategies to help enhance child communication.

For Families

Learn how to support your child's language growth and development

Receive an iPad (and potentially cellular service) during your participation

Activities occur over video calls during a time that is convenient for you

$550-$1,150 for your time over the 19-month study

Take a 2-minute survey to learn more!

Text MORE to 847.750.3440

