

Going to Nashville Ballet for a Ballet Class

Social Story™
Nashville Ballet

I am going to take a ballet class at Nashville Ballet.

When we arrive, we will say hello and check in at the front desk.

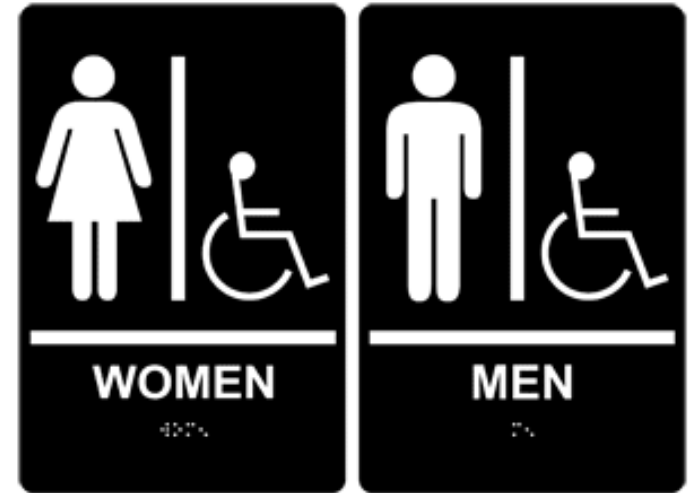

The lobby has lots of places to sit and wait for class to start. It may be a little crowded and a little loud. That is okay. My teacher will come get me when it is time for class.

I can put my things in a cubby. They are safe here while I am in class. I will get my things from the cubby after class.

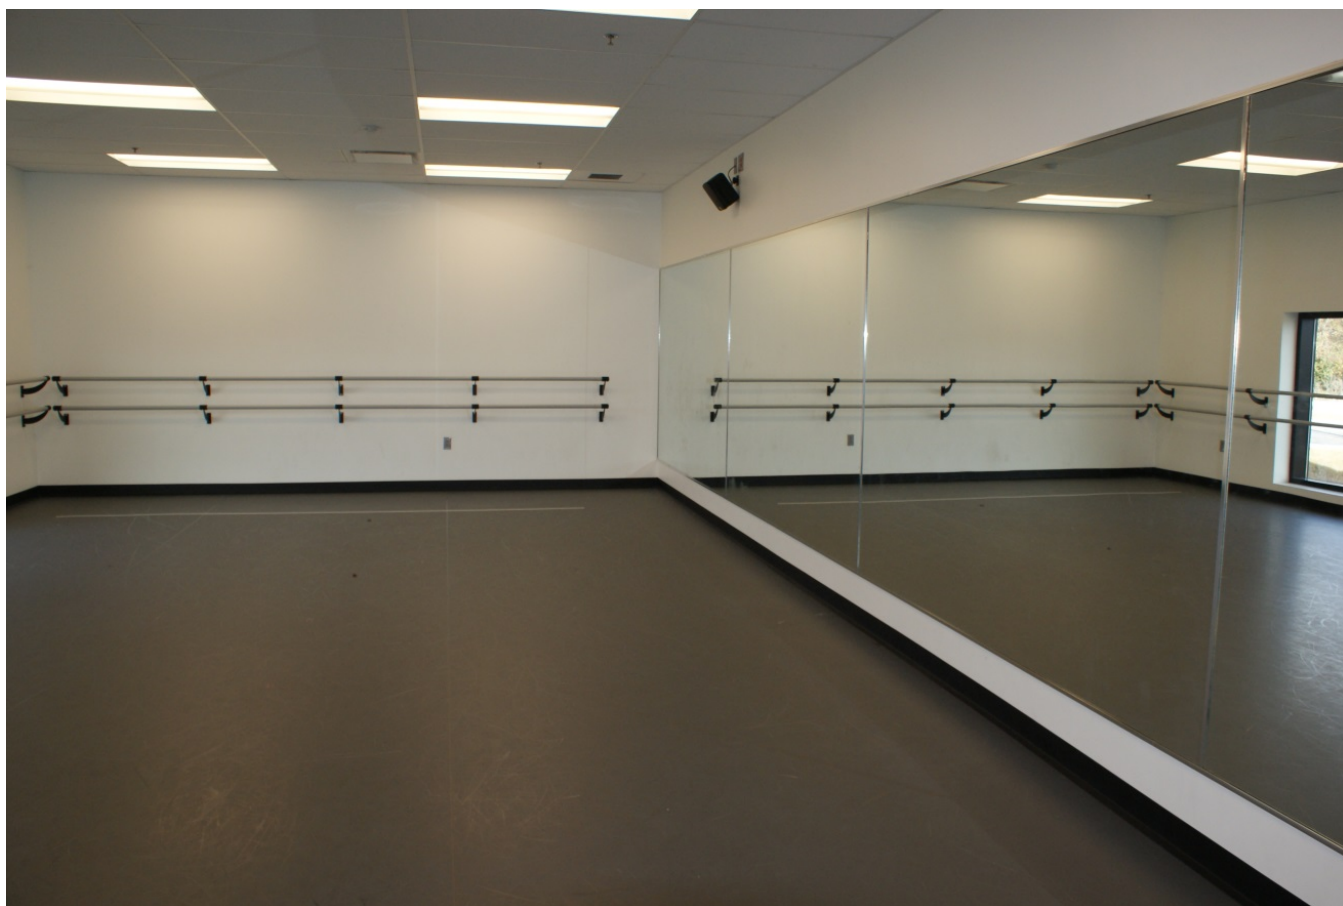

I will ask my mom or dad to take me to the bathroom before class starts. This way I do not miss any class time.

If I need a drink of water before class starts, I can ask my mom or dad to take me.

When we walk into the studio, I will know the class is about to start and it is time to be quiet and listen to the teacher.

During class, the teacher will be showing me what to do with my arms and legs.

Other students will be moving around and dancing with their arms and legs too.

If it gets too loud, I can ask to go to a quiet space in the dressing rooms.

After class, everyone will get their things from their cubby and walk to the front door to leave.
