

Eye Tracking

 VANDERBILT KENNEDY CENTER

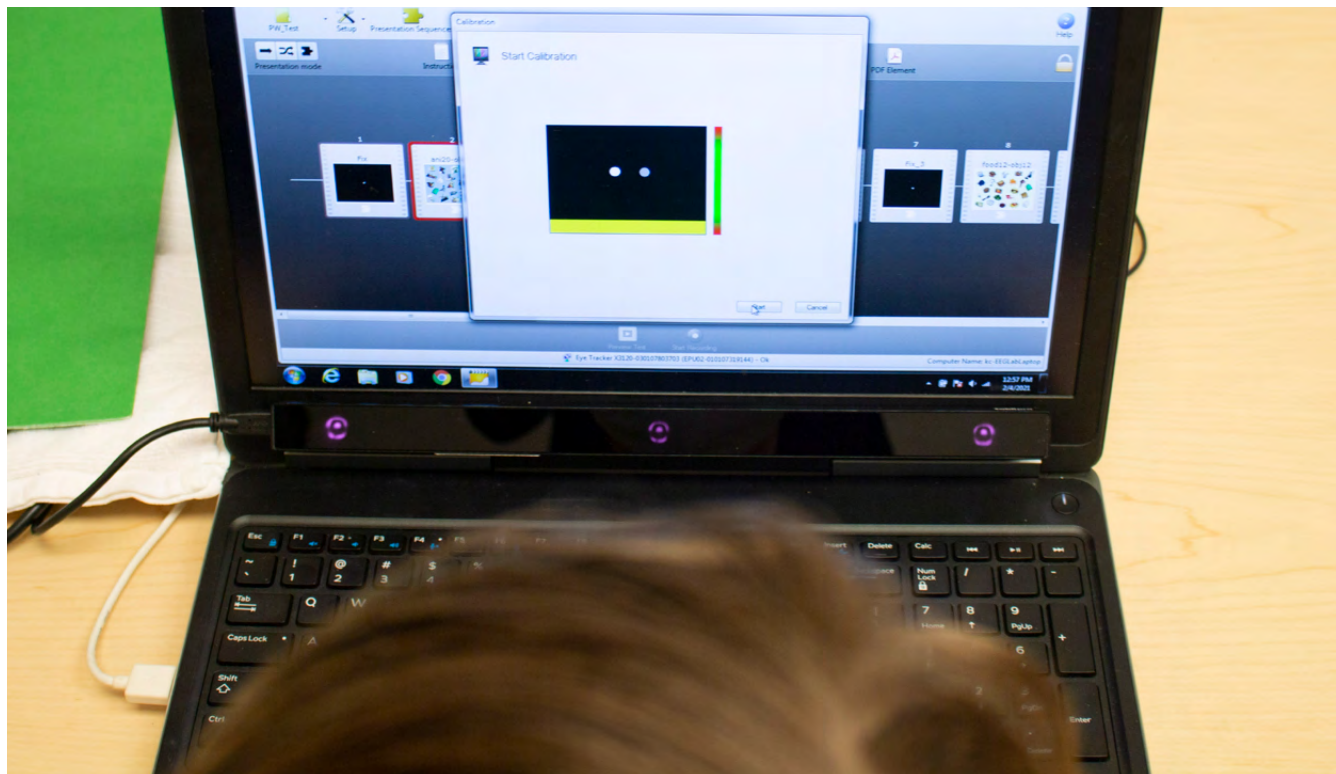

During the visit, you will sit in a chair and look at pictures/videos on a computer.

The computer has a special camera that records where your eyes are looking.

First, we will teach the computer to follow your eyes.
The computer may need a few tries to get it right.

We may turn off the lights to help the computer do its job.
We will leave a small nightlight on.
Your family member can stay in the room with you.

Next, you will watch the computer screen like you watch TV.
